Lindsay loved the game of basketball and playing for her incredible coach, Mr. Reinhardt who continually pushed her to be the best player she could be. She wouldn't have had the career she did without him or her unselfish teammates.

Some of her biggest career honors are; Conference Honorable Mention (06-07), 1st Team (07-08), 1st Team and the Player of the Year her senior season. Along with this she was also named 1st Team and Player of the Year her junior and senior season by the All Washington-County Team. To finish out her exciting high school career she was named to the 1st Team All-State her senior year.

Lindsay achieved her dream of receiving a scholarship to college to play basketball and continue playing the game she loves. Her senior year of college she took up running marathons and then ultra marathons. This led to an incredible journey of self acceptance with her Alopecia. She has won some big races throughout her running career and started a pen pal program for kids with Alopecia to give back and be the person she needed when she was younger.

Lindsay loved her time at Slinger and will never forget all the memories basketball gave to her.
